

Strategic Planning

At Teibel, Inc., we help institutions plan for and cope with change. Our mission is to partner with clients to address risk and realize the benefit of their investments in people, process, and technology.

When tomorrow is as important as today

At Teibel, Inc., we know how important a thoughtful approach to strategic planning can be. Leaders often struggle with linking their long-term vision to measurable goals that are consistent with the mission of the institution.

Teibel, Inc. can help you develop a strategic plan that defines clear milestones, measurable goals, and responsibilities for implementation. The result is a road map that gets everyone on the same page and ensures the approach is consistent with your vision of the future. Most importantly, we help all those involved understand the ownership and enthusiasm required to make this plan succeed.

With the Teibel strategic planning process, we will help you:

- Define measurable goals in the context of a fresh mission and vision statement
- Develop consensus among leaders while making sure all views are understood and appreciated
- Create a plan with clear milestones, goals, and responsibilities
- Utilize tools, templates, and systems to effectively communicate and measure progress across teams and departments
- Ensure the ownership of the plan and implementation lies with those that need to live with the outcome

“Teibel, Inc. has worked with our new management team as we sought to take a more comprehensive look at the vision for the university and develop a true strategic plan. We particularly like Teibel’s flexibility and style in facilitating important and difficult discussions. They have taken the time to understand our culture and have helped us to hit the ground running.”
